What is tea?

All varieties of tea are made from the leaves of the camellia sinensis plant. Since all tea comes from the camellia sinensis plant, the differences between the types of tea are primarily due to how they are processed after the leaves are picked. In theory, any tea plant growing anywhere can have its leaves made into any kind of tea, but this is not done in practice because geography, growing conditions, and local expertise are critical factors to proper tea production.

"All our teas are loose leaf and available to buy in our shop, don't worry we sell tea strainers too!"

TEA

Descriptions

House Tea

Delightfully bright and full of flavour, Made using the finest Assam and Kenya tea leaves.

Earl Grey

This light tea has a delicate citrus aroma and a strong, fragrant taste.

Assam

Assam has a brisk, malty flavour and a strong aroma.

Ceylon

Ceylon has a brisk, tiger balm flavour and is full of character.

Darjeeling

Darjeeling is lighter than most black teas, with a distinctive fruity, muscatel character.

Lapsang Souchong

A smoky, golden tea that will evoke images of pine tree forests and ice-capped mountains with every sip.

Camomile

Light, fresh and floral our camomile tea is aromatic with a subtle apple-like flavour.

Russian Caravan

Delicate and smoky, this is a truly evocative tea with a rustic flavour and warmth that'll instantly transport you to magical campfires and wilderness.

Jasmine Madam Butterfly

Jasmine tea is fresh and light with a slightly floral taste from the aromatic jasmine flowers.

Pinhead Gunpowder

A bold green tea that is full of flavour, with a slightly smoky flavour and a unique roasted aroma.

Redbush

Redbush Tea has a rich, earthy and almost nutty flavour and naturally caffeine free.

Peppermint

strong peppermint flavour. Light and fresh this herbal tea will leave you feeling restored.
